

Less Than Two Weeks Until the 2022 WHA Workforce Forum – Register Today

The Inaugural WHA Workforce Forum is fast approaching, being held on Sept. 28 in Madison. This unique experience will provide an opportunity for hospital and health system leaders and industry stakeholders to learn and share ideas on how to grow the health care workforce faster, retain and sustain our health care workforce, truly leverage technology, and break down burden and burnout for health care workers.

WHA's expert team will create the framework for the current and future state of Wisconsin's health care workforce, and participants will leave with an improved understanding of how their organization, health care stakeholders and state and federal policymakers can support the changes needed to sustain Wisconsin's high-quality, high-value health care with a shrinking workforce and growing demand.

Recently added to the agenda is American Hospital Association's (AHA) Vice President of Clinical Affairs & Workforce Elisa Arespachoga. Elisa will speak on Harnessing Retention to Sustain the Workforce. Click here for the day's full agenda.

For more information about the conference, including how to register, click here. If you have questions, contact WHA education at education@wha.org.

Other Articles in this Issue

- AHA: 2022 Will Be the Most Financially Difficult for Hospitals and Health Systems
- Kaufman Hall Reports Tough Financial Times for Hospitals in 2022
- Public Policy Council Discusses Licensure Reforms, Medicaid Priorities
- WHA-Supported Bill to Improve Medicare Advantage Prior Authorization Clears U.S. House of Representatives
- Less Than Two Weeks Until the 2022 WHA Workforce Forum – Register Today